RANGLE "SAYS SOMETHIN'" AND MR. JARR ACQUIRES.

"PRETTY warm, ain't it, for this time of year?"

"You said something there!"

"Bout this time a guy like getting out the old fishpole, don't he?"

"He sure does."

"These subway cars are pretty crowded every morning about this time."

"Now you're talking!"

"I guess we ain't going to have war with them Mexicans, after all!"

"Don't look that way."

"Wonder if Becker will git a new trial."

"Ask me!"

"Ain'tcha glad it's all over? Wasn't nuthin' else in the papers but the"

Becker trial."

"Yes, and the war with Mexico."

"You said something there!"

"Them women over in London sure is making things lively."

"Now you're talking!"

"I'm glad I ain't married to no suffragette."

"You said something that time. So am I."

"He sure does."

"HELP WANTED!"

"Now you said somethin'!"

"That old gink Hester is a pretty tough old nut all right, all right."

"Now, you're talking!"

"They say the old feller is a booze-fighter, too."

"Aw, them Mexicans ain't no good!"

"Sure not; I saw a bunch of them with the Wild West Show and I said: 'Our boys could eat 'em up!'"

"You said it! If there was a war would you go fight 'em?"

"Me? Nix! Let George do it!"

"I heard a gink say that the Mexicans was all right, but they was sore because the land was taken from them."

"That shows they are a lot of boobies! Who wants any land? Who wants to be a farmer?"

"You said somethin' that time. Anyway, I don't think Mexico is worth fighting about."

"Surest thing you know. They are only a lot of ignorant ginks, what don't you know nuthin'!"

"Now you said it!"

"The papers are rotten, ain't got nuthin' in 'em s'nothin'!"

"You said somethin' that time!"

"Well, this is my station. S'long!"

And John W. Rangle, brilliant conversationalist, nodded and left his fellow passenger, Edward Jarr, another one of Harlem's most brilliant intellects.

SAMMY'S SLATE

Welcome Visitor.

THE perfect baby of a south side mother has reached the age when he can coo, an accomplishment in which he indulges himself most of the time when not otherwise engaged.

"He is the most welcome visitor I ever had," said the mother, proudly. "He just lies and talks to me by the hour."

"Isn't that nice?" replied the caller. "So unlike most visitors—they just talk and lie to you by the hour."

Kansas City Star.

"So Eugene married Eugenie, eh? What a coincidence!"

"Yes; regular eugenic marriage."

Thin Folks Who Would Be Fat

Increase in Weight 10 Pounds or More

A Physician's Advice

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to eat up a few pounds and stay that way." So claim every countryman this man or woman. Such result is not impossible, despite past failures. Thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestine until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of fat the nutritive process must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by eating a Rangle tablet with every meal. Rangle is a scientific combination of all the best strength giving, fat-producing elements known to the medical profession. These with meals, it mixes with the food and turns the sugars and starches into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect is remarkable. Assured gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is by no means natural and absolutely harmless. Rangle is sold by good druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase by money back.

Caution—While Rangle has produced remarkable results in the treatment of nervous prostration and general stomach disorders, it should not be used by those who are not willing to let their weight increase or more, and
